

How Did We Get Started

"I once found myself sitting among a group of managers at the firm where I was a branch manager. One manager had an epiphany -- one of our biggest challenges is that our staff members weren't being groomed to become good businesspeople. That thought resonated with me for a long time. It inspired me to develop an educational program to help employees develop the mindset of a business owner."

Equipping Your Team for Success

Learning Games

We've found that one of the best ways to learn is through the use of simulations or playing games. LIFE Skills Education uses games to teach important business lessons. Some of our games are discussed below.

Popular Board Games – We use games such as Monopoly, Life and Payday to teach simple money management skills, business, entrepreneurship and other lessons. In this way everyone can become a teacher to others.

Facilitated Activities – We use simple learning games and activities that maintain energy and boost long-term retention.

Interactive Group Games – We offer large group interactive games for groups as large as 30 participants.

“Our employees are usually taught the technical or scientific knowhow of their work. However, too few learn how to run a business. Fewer still see one’s place in creating a value proposition for the customer. Our employees must recognize their value and their contribution.”

~Nick Wolff, Founder, LIFE Skills Education
