Our Founder’s Story

“Soon after I graduated from college, I found myself heavily indebted, overspending and unable to get ahead. I learned through a lot of pain and heartache that uninformed financial decisions can dramatically impact enjoyment and quality of life for years. I created LIFE Skills Education in the hope I can spare others the pains and troubles that I unwittingly allowed myself to experience when I made poor choices. I hope to help young people, kids, teens, young adults and others learn the money lessons I wish I had learned when I was young.”
~ Nick Wolff, Founder, LIFE Skills Education

Testimonials

“This game could be a very educational and thought-provoking tool for those starting a business as well as those that are studying business. I found it to be entertaining and stimulating, and also learned from collaborating with other players.”
~ Sherry S.

"Nick's LIFE Skills program is top notch. I've learned so much from Nick and his program. I'm now more confident in my personal financial stability than ever before."
~ Chris T.

“Nick values and promotes education through guided self discovery which makes for a more enriched experience and a longer lasting impression.”
~ Victoria A.

Learning Games

We’ve found that one of the best ways to learn is through the use of simulations or playing games. LIFE Skills Education uses games to teach important financial lessons. Some of our games are discussed below.

Popular Board Games – We use games such as Monopoly, Life and Payday to teach simple money management skills, business, entrepreneurship and other lessons.

Facilitated Activities – We use simple learning games and activities that maintain energy and boost long-term retention.

Interactive Group Games – We offer large group interactive games for groups as large as 30 participants.

“Our young people spend over 900 hours a year learning the skills to become productive employees. However, we do a poor job of teaching them how to manage the fruits of their labor.” ~ Nick Wolff, Founder, LIFE Skills Education
